Biography Daniel Brogan

Daniel graduated from the European School of Osteopathy. He became a fellow of the Molinari Institute of Health in 2017.

Daniel practices in London and has been working with Professor Renzo Molinari over the last 3 years which has allowed him to develop his expertise in women's health.

During his career Daniel had to undergo several pelvic related surgeries which allowed him to develop an interest in general men's health leading him to then specialize under the supervision of Professor Molinari in issues such as male infertility, urological and colorectal dysfunctions.
